

Let me tell you a little about myself.

I'm a visual designer, art director, and an artist. My life started in Nebraska, but a job at Crispin Porter + Bogusky, as an Interactive Art Director, brought me to Boulder, CO where I've been since March of 2007. I enjoy throwing myself into every project I undertake, whether it be a Web Site at work or skateboard design for an art show. Visual communication has many outlets and I work hard to explore every one of them.
